

AMERICAN TROOPS CLASH WITH JAPS IN SIBERIA: THREE YANKS ARE KILLED

HOOVER A REPUBLICAN? DEMOCRATS SHOCKED

NEW YORK.—A double-barreled boom for Herbert Hoover as president was fired by Julius H. Barnes, president of the United States Grain Corporation, in a speech before the National Wholesale Drygoods Association here Wednesday night.

Barnes suggested Hoover as the Republican nominee, but declared that he might become the Democratic candidate.

Democrats in Washington Thursday were obviously surprised and a trifle shocked at the announcement of Julius Barnes, director of the United States Grain Corporation, in New York, Wednesday night that Herbert Hoover is a "progressive Republican."

Many Democrats apparently had been counting on Hoover as possible presidential nominee and some of the most influential had been engaged in "boosting his stock" under the impression that he was a Democrat. James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany is one of those who has been putting in a good word for Hoover whenever possible.

The attitude of the Democrats seemed about summed up in the remark of Champ Clark, former speaker of the house. When Clark heard that Barnes said that Hoover was a progressive Republican, but would abandon that party and join the Democrats if the Republicans adopted a non-progressive platform, Clark sarcastically said:

HUNGARIANS GET PEACE TREATY

Delegates Handed Document This Afternoon by Clemenceau

ASKED TO SIGN IMMEDIATELY
Representatives Protest — Ask
Time to Discuss Pact

PARIS.—The Hungarian peace treaty was handed the enemy delegates at 4:10 p. m. Thursday. Premier Clemenceau as president of the peace conference, invited the Hungarians to sign immediately.

Count Apponyi, head of the Hungarian delegation, protested, urging the necessity for discussion.

Clemenceau then agreed the Hungarians should appear before the supreme council at 2:30 p. m. Friday to present their claims.

The "big three" Thursday afternoon, meeting in secret session, discussed extradition of the former kaiser if it was learned authoritative.

The "big three" has reached an agreement on the disposition of Fiume, it was understood Thursday. Jugo Slav representatives have telegraphed the Belgrade government for approval of the terms of settlement. A reply is expected within 48 hours.

The government of Spain Thursday notified Premier Clemenceau, of its official adherence to the league of nations.

Denmark, Switzerland and Sweden have acknowledged invitations to become members of the league, without giving their official acceptance.

Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, and Kitchin of Italy Thursday were decorated by the French government with the grand cross of the Legion of Honor, in recognition of their services in bringing about ratification of peace with Germany.

Premier Clemenceau Thursday adopted firm tactics to prevent any delay in bringing about peace with Hungary.

When Count Apponyi, head of the Hungarian delegation, presumably in an attempt to gain time, asked the peace conference to advise him whether the United States would participate in the signing, Clemenceau sent a sharp reply, warning him against dilatory tactics.

High Wallace, American ambassador, who was present when the treaty is handed to the Hungarians, delegates at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Clemenceau said: "The treaty was to have been handed the Hungarians Wednesday but was delayed, presumably because of Apponyi's tactics."

Two car loads of equipment for members of Troops F, 1st Ohio Cavalry were received Wednesday night from Columbus. Another car load is expected to arrive here by Thursday noon completing the equipment for the troop. Horses will be sent here as soon as accommodations can be secured according to Captain Jack Horner.

Guns, saddles, canteens, mess kits, uniforms, shoes and other paraphernalia which has been received is being stored temporarily in a basement under the Horner and Steinhilber shoe store on West Market street. The supplies are new.

SUES FOR MONEY
Harry McDormant, as administrator of the estate of Emma Campbell, sued M. E. Gunther for $500, claiming the amount due on a note owed by the Campbell estate, in common pleas court, Wednesday afternoon.

NEW PART OWNER OF NATS SAYS HE IS FOR JOHNSON

William M. Richardson, who supplied the money with which he and Clark Griffith purchased the Washington ball club, has let it be known that, although he has a half interest in the club, Griffith will cast the club's vote at all elections and that the club will continue its fight to keep Ban Johnson as league president.

COMMITTEE SEEKS ARMORY SITE

State Troops To Be Housed In Temporary Building

A committee consisting of Harry Jones, cashier of the Old National Bank, C. E. Lynch, cashier Allen County Loan; George Eckert and Raleigh Holland, has been appointed by the Kiwanis Club to seek a suitable location for a temporary armory here for state troops.

Following a meeting of the committee it was decided to erect a temporary building which will be used for the present year. This action was decided upon when it was learned that the money which is set aside by the state for the building of armories has been exhausted for the present year.

Officers here have been assured, however, that Lima will be the first city on the list for an armory in 1921. Captain Horner stated Wednesday night that an armory will be necessary because there are no quarters in Lima which are large enough to accommodate, storage rooms, riding grounds and stables, all in the same building, this being indispensable to the proper training quarters.

VICTIM OF STROKE SUCCUMBS

Death Comes To W. H. Mattingly,
Former Undertaker

William B. Mattingly, 62, well-known resident of Lima who has been bed-fast for more than a year, died Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 at his home, 500 West Wayne street. Mr. Mattingly formerly was an undertaker at 128 West Wayne street. He was born in Zanesville, O., February 18, 1843. Death came as the result of a paralytic stroke one year ago.

The body will be at the Schuler and Lynch chapel, until Friday morning when it will be taken to Zanesville where service will be held. Burial will be made in Mount Calvary cemetery, Zanesville. The deceased was a member of the Knights of Columbus and Catholic Knights of Ohio. Deaf arrangements for the services have not yet been made.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT FOR HERSH

A jury, in common pleas court Wednesday returned a verdict for J. G. Hersh, Attorney in his suit against Thomas J. Hoffman, W. R. Mumaugh and Rolla Glover. The suit entailed several notes which the attorney had purchased. The defendants claimed they were exempt from the terms of the notes on the ground that they had written the words "Without Recourse" on each of the notes.

Americans Capture Train After Big Fight Against General Semenoff, Anti-Bolshevik Leader and His Troops In Lake Baikal Region

Japanese Troops Open Fire on Americans, According to Harbin Dispatch Today—American Fleet Sails from Philippine Islands to Combat Japs at Vladivostok

LONDON.—A dispatch from Harbin Thursday reported a clash between Japanese and American troops in Siberia. American soldiers have captured an armored train.

Two Americans were killed and three wounded in the encounter, the dispatch said. It did not give any reason for the fighting which occurred along the Verkhneudinsk railway in the Lake Baikal region. Fighting was reported under way between Czech-Slovak troops and the forces of Semenoff.

A dispatch to the Popolo Romano from Spalato said Jugo Slavs there attacked a party of American sailors, killing one and wounding two.

Bolshevik wireless communique from Moscow referring to the situation in Siberia, said a movement had been organized by the social revolutionaries, in conjunction with the Czechs.

The movement, according to the Bolshevik communique, was "assisted by an American fleet which left the Philippine Islands for Vladivostok to prevent the Japanese from landing fresh troops to assist General Semenoff."

Another Bolshevik communique referred to recent red "victories" in the trans-Caspian region as of great importance, pointing out they strengthened the soviet influence in the Turkestan. Capture of the important town of Krasnovodsk, the starting point of the trans-Caspian railway on the shores of the Caspian sea, insures the ruin of "British imperialism" in central Asia, the Bolshevik claimed.

One immediate effect of the revolutionary movement in Persia and Bolshevik victories in Siberia and Turkestan, has been the closing of Chinese frontiers against the reds, the communique added.

Chinese revolutionary detachments, however, are cooperating with the soviet armies, it is claimed, adding that a majority of the Cossacks in the Amur region and the Buriats and Kirgizes in the Trans Baikal country had revolted against Semenoff, killing his representatives.

DEMOCRATS HAVE BITTER FIGHT

Rivalry Over Election of Floor
Leader Causes Hot Discussions

WASHINGTON.—Senate Democrats Thursday deadlocked over the choice of a floor leader to succeed the late Senator Martin.

With the vote between Senators Hitchcock and Underwood a tie the Democratic caucus broke up shortly after noon, with no date set for another attempt to elect a leader. The caucus adjourned subject to call by Hitchcock and Underwood, who in the meantime will try to break the deadlock.

Refusal of Hoke Smith, Georgia, to vote for either candidate, caused the deadlock.

There were 43 senators present. With Smith refusing to vote, the Hitchcock and Underwood factions each had 19 votes. Senators Swanson, Johnson, South Dakota, and Smith, Arizona, were absent.

The roll call
For Underwood—Bankhead, Dial, Fletcher, Gay, Gerry, Gore, Harrison, Harrison, Jones, New Mexico, McKellar, Pittman, Ransdell, Reed, Shields, Smith, Maryland; Smith, South Carolina; Stanley, Walsh, Massachusetts, Williams—19.
For Hitchcock—Ashurst, Chamberlain, Culberson, Henderson, Kendrick, King, Kirby, Myers, Nugent, Overman, Phelan, Pomerene, Robinson, Sheppard, Simmons, Thomas, Trammell, Walsh, Montana; Wolcott—19.

Paired Beckham for Underwood, with Swanson for Hitchcock and Smith, Arizona, for Underwood, with Owen for Hitchcock; Underwood and Hitchcock.
Not voting—Glass, Johnson, South Dakota.
Present and not voting—Smith, Georgia.

The caucus first voted to permit Carter Glass, the new senator from Virginia to vote, but later this action was reversed.
Had Glass been permitted to vote, Underwood would have won by one vote. Glass has not yet taken his seat in the senate, although his credentials have been presented.

The Underwood forces cited precedents for letting Glass vote but in the end the caucus refused to allow this.
The caucus lasted to hours and from the first developed into a bitter fight, with Glass and his vote the center.

WILL PRESIDE AT FIRST SESSION OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Leon Bourgeois, French member of the council of the league of nations is slated to preside at the opening session of the council, President Wilson has set January 16 as the date of the first meeting. The U. S., however, will not have a representative at the initial gathering.

SEVENTY KILLED IN BERLIN RIOT

Mobs Continue Effort to Overthrow German Police

FIGHTING IS SUBSIDING
Expect Peace Will Soon Be Restored—Factories Close

LONDON.—Rioting was resumed in Berlin Wednesday, dispatches received here early Thursday said.

The military authorities have ordered additional reinforcements to protect the city. The toll of Thursday's fighting in front of the reichstag, it was semi-officially announced was 70 killed and 105 wounded. Some eye-witnesses, according to the dispatches, thought the total casualties might be considerably larger.

Dispatches received in official quarters here indicated the outbreak Tuesday was not of a revolutionary nature, although some fear was expressed that revolutionary outbreaks might develop.

It was emphasized the German government must deal carefully with the situation by one of the extreme left wing attending the various labor agitation, particularly the railway strike.

Tuesday's rioting, dispatches showed Thursday, broke out with unusual suddenness. A dispatch filed at 1:32 p. m. Tuesday, just before the fighting started, said tremendous crowds had gathered in front of the reichstag but were orderly.

The people gathered in response to calls from their leaders, the correspondent said but his dispatch did not indicate fear of rioting.

The rioting was strongly defended by the new police force, armed with machine guns, which the correspondent wrote "apparently will find no work to do."
The crowds are remarkably calm," he said. "Most factories closed at noon, the workers marching in long lines toward the reichstag to join in the demonstration against the workmen's council bill delay."

Within three hours after this dispatch was filed the same "remarkably calm" crowd had been turned into a mob which attempted to destroy the reichstag. The scene of the riot demonstration had become a shambles, with many killed and wounded.

A dispatch filed at 6 o'clock said at the time 70 were reported dead and more than 100 wounded.

MAY LOCATE NEW MILK PLANT HERE

Ohio Dairy Seeking Location for Distribution Station

Lima may be selected as a milk distributing center for the Ohio Dairy company, Toledo, it became known Wednesday night. The company at present maintains a station here for the distribution of butter and kindred dairy products.

At present approximately 80,000 pounds of milk are picked up at Columbus Grove daily.
Officials of the company recently made a tour of the northwestern section of the state seeking a location. No definite site was determined on for the new plant.

MURDER PENALTY IN NEW BILL

Crabbe Measure Places Punishment on Peddlers of Alcohol

MAY BREAK SMITH LAW

Whittemore, Majority Leader,
Says One Percent Law May Go

COLUMBUS.—The Crabbe prohibition enforcement bill, carrying a murder penalty for persons selling or giving away wood alcohol, where death occurs, was ready for action in the Ohio senate Thursday.

Before the bill was discussed Crabbe offered the amendment which makes giving or selling wood alcohol a murder offense, when death results from the use of same. The amendment was adopted.

The bill passed the house late Wednesday by a vote of 91 for to 23 against.

The emergency clause was again defeated. This time, the vote was 72 for to 44 against. Drays made a gain of three votes on the emergency clause over the vote cast against the old Crabbe bill.

Wets announced Thursday that the new Crabbe bill would also go to the people for a referendum vote. Crabbe will ask for a reconsideration of the emergency vote, but dry legislators Thursday entertained very little hope of the bill now becoming an emergency measure.

There'll be no sine die adjournment of the general assembly until after a relief tax measure and the legislative re-organization program have been disposed of by the law makers.

This was the announcement made Thursday by Senator Whittemore, majority floor leader.

"We'll probably have a new tax measure next week," Whittemore said. "And if this measure is not satisfactory, then we'll consider re-organizing into the Smith one per cent law."

Doubt was expressed in legislative circles Thursday whether the Republicans would be able to pass the Gardner bill which breaks the limits of the Smith law to exempt sinking funds and interest charges from the ten mill limit.

Republicans in caucus late Wednesday night voted to use this method to give relief to cities.

Some former members will fight to the last ditch any proposed rupture of the Smith law, while most of the Democrats are expected to line up against the movement.

It is certain that a state-wide referendum will be called on the Gardner bill if it passes and Governor Cox does not veto it.

Cox, however, it is understood, is opposed to it.

"Our plan is now to recess in a few weeks, until March or April and return and dispose of the legislative re-organization plans," Whittemore said. "We may lift upon some method of tax on then if nothing is done before we recess."

The house had before it Thursday the amendment to the workmen's compensation act, which would compel all employers who employ more than five workers to come within its provisions.

Under its provisions, employers of labor, who dodge state insurance, could be hauled into court and forced to pay premiums.

It passed the senate late Wednesday.

Senator Holden, Warren county, late Wednesday introduced a resolution, requesting congress, to eliminate the anti-strike clause from the Communism railroad bill.

The house had two bills before it Thursday dealing with the cold storage and profiteering problems in Ohio.

One bill by Representative Luchinger, Hamilton county, makes four months the limit for cold storage product in lead of six months, as provided in the Smith cold storage act.

The other bill by representative J. C. Adams county, provides a rate of from $500 to $5,000, with improvement of from six months to one year for any shipper who holds bond or coal in freight yards longer than five days or any person who shuffles food or coal about the country to avoid cold storage laws.

ITALIAN TELEGRAPHERS ISSUE STRIKE CALL

LONDON.—A general strike of postal, telegraph and telephone workers throughout Italy was ordered effective Wednesday midnight, according to dispatches to the Times from the Italian border.

Telegraph offices were the first to suspend service, the dispatches said. The buildings were guarded by troops. Railway workers probably will join the strikers Friday, it was said.

BRYAN IN WASHINGTON
WASHINGTON.—W. J. Bryan arrived at the capital Thursday to take personal charge of his campaign for treaty ratification on any possible reservation basis.

Bryan at once went into conference with Senator McKellar, Tennessee, one of the authors of the McKellar-Kendrick Democratic reservations.

FRANCHISE NOT YET READY

Attorney Declines to Make Statement On Progress

BUS PLAN NOW IS PROPOSED
Epstine Has Scheme to Do Away With Cars

Work on the new franchise to be presented to the city council by attorneys representing the joint commission is going on slowly. While it is variously estimated the new documents will be ready for presentation by the first of February, yet no definite announcement has come from attorneys representing the commission.

W. L. Parmenter, one of the attorneys, stated Thursday he was not at liberty to say whether the franchise would be ready tomorrow or a month from tomorrow.

Attorney Walter S. Jackson and Judge George Quail are other attorneys representing the joint commission.

David Epstine, widely-known Lima business man, believes the street car problem for Lima can be successfully solved by the use of motor busses, should the Ohio Electric fail to accept the new franchise to be presented to it.

The motor bus plan is extensively used in the large cities. Toledo is now seriously engaged in its consideration.

Epstine, in consultation with representatives of the Gramm-Bentzen Motor Truck Company, Lima, told of the plan to establish a community transportation company to operate motor busses on a ten-minute schedule, over the present route of the street car system. Some parts of the city not now covered would be adequately taken care of in the new plan.

Epstine's plan is to sell stock in the new concern to citizens of Lima at $10 a share, each share entitling the owner to $10 worth of bus tickets at the rate of five cents a ticket. By this means a large percentage of Lima citizens would become actual stockholders in the transportation company and share the profits of the enterprise.

Epstine states he will put the plan in operation in case the Ohio Electric does not see fit to accept the new franchise.

GRAIN MEN FILE SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Damages for $130 are asked by Hyman and Ackerman, proprietors of a south Lima grain elevator, against Charles and James McDonnell, in a suit filed in common pleas court Thursday.

The elevator proprietors declare they contracted with the McDonnells to furnish them a car-load of car corn at $1.50 a hundred weight. They sold it for $1.71 to consumers. When the McDonnells failed to deliver, they were forced to go into the open market and secure the corn, incurring a loss of $130, they say.

OPEN OFFICE FOR EMPLOYMENT

Soldiers, Sailors and Marines WILL BE IN LIMA SOON

A soldier, sailor and marine employment bureau was officially opened here Thursday morning at the office of the home service section of the American Red Cross under the supervision of Dick Stone, well known ex-service man of this city.

Opening of the office was authorized by Washington officials of the Red Cross. Stone Thursday started upon his work. He will interview practically every service man in the city and determine the local situation as pertaining to discharged service men.

Within the next three months, according to information of Thursday, Stone will have visited practically every ex-service man in Lima.

In visiting the men he will inquire as to whether they have work or not and if having work whether or not they are satisfied with their employment. Those without work will be referred to the home service section of the American Red Cross at the Lima Business College building.

Stone will also see that men in need of medical attention are given same and that disabled soldiers, sailors and marines take up vocational training to fit them for various jobs.

All local men wishing to consult Stone on matters of employment call at the home service section of the American Red Cross at the Lima Business College building.

INCREASE BANK DIRECTORATE

American Elects Old Officers At Annual Meeting

Officers and directors were elected by the American bank at a meeting of stockholders, Wednesday afternoon.

The board of directors was increased two members. Harry Solomon, real estate dealer, and Attorney Francis W. Durbin, being elected to the present list. Members of board re-elected include Henry Deisel, Sr., William Weumer, W. L. Mackenzie, P. C. Berk, Louis Koch, George Feliz, E. D. Carpenter, M. Hoffler, N. L. Michael, Frank X. Sieber and Val. Hill.

The present list of efficient officers was retained in their position. Henry Deisel, Sr., is president; W. L. Mackenzie, vice president; Theodore G. Harris, cashier, and H. J. East, assistant cashier.

Employees of the bank were given liberal increases in salaries. The year's business was declared to be the largest in the history of the bank. "Prospects for a big year's business were never better," Cashier Harris stated.

The new Christmas clubs, instituted for the first time this year, were filled before the time set for closing had arrived.

Popular Song Hit

Quite a pretty song is now the vogue in New York. It is a very plain, home-like affair, in which the lovelorn laddie finds his ideal in a beautiful girl. The idea seems to take with the folk, for they eagerly pay their little dues for copies of the music. Here is a portion of the chorus:

Although this song is written without a high note, quite an effect is obtained by the simplicity of the arrangement. Orchestras are using the melody as a waltz. This can be heard at Talking Machines or Player-Pianos.

WALKS MUST BE CLEANED

Chief Roush Issues Order on icy Pavements

Ice-covered sidewalks, the result of laxity of local citizens in cleaning snow from walks, must be cleaned by Friday morning or arrests and prosecution will follow. Chief of Police Roush declared Thursday afternoon.

"The safety of the general public of the city has been threatened through ice on sidewalks the past few days and the walks must be cleared at once," Chief Roush said.

Police officers Thursday instructed up-town business men to have their walks cleared of ice by Friday.

A number of the walks are free from ice, the chief says, but a still larger number are ice covered and will have to be cleaned.

A city ordinance making it compulsory for walks to be cleared of snow and ice was passed some time ago but no arrests have yet been made for violation of the same, the chief claims. The ordinance, however, will be carried out to the letter beginning Friday.

Arrests on similar charges, Chief Roush says, have been made in other cities and those arrested have been fined as high as $25.

HOW TO KEEP UP HEALTH RECORD

Healer Jones Tells How to Keep Down Epidemic

"Lima has been extremely fortunate in escaping contagious diseases during the past few months," Health Commissioner D. A. L. Jones said Thursday morning.

The good fortune of the city however, the healer says, should not cause the impression that rules for prevention of epidemic diseases should be discarded.

At this time of the year more so than any other, Dr. Jones advises the strictest adherence to all rules for prevention of communicable diseases.

"People cannot take too good care of themselves and cannot overdo too many precautions to prevent breaking out of an epidemic of any nature here," he says.

Especially at this time persons encounter danger of contracting diseases in public places, Jones stated. When crowds are gathered Health Commissioner Jones offers the following reminders to all in the city.

Don't sneeze or cough without covering your mouth with a handkerchief.

Never spit upon the street at any time.

If you have a cold or communicable disease of any sort don't mingle with the crowds.

The health condition in local schools, according to the health officer is better than that of numerous other cities in the country.

"True," Dr. Jones says, "we have had a small number of cases of diseases and a number of colds among the children but these have been taken care of and it hardly appears as if an epidemic will break out here. This however does not mean that an epidemic cannot break out and I would advise that every citizen pay strictest attention of all rules of health at all times."

BROKE ON JUNE 1

No Money For Safety After That Date

Firemen and patrolmen's pay-rolls reached City Auditor D. L. Rupert, Thursday morning, from Fred H. Fisher, new safety director. They were the first made up for the new year and under the direction of the new safety director.

The funds to be paid for services the first half of January. The checks will be ready January 20. The amount for firemen will reach $2,545.97 and for patrolmen, $2,008.23. Forty-two firemen are on the pay-roll including substitutes, and thirty-one policemen.

The salaries are based on the same amount as that of December. Using the same basis funds now available will run until June 1. After that time Auditor D. L. Rupert hardly knows what he will do to accomplish payment of Lima's fire and patrolmen, for the city's resources for salaries will be at an end.

AGED WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Barbara Miller Succumbs To Long Illness

Mrs. Barbara Miller, 88, widow of the late John G. Miller, died at her home, seven miles northwest of Lima, in Sugar Creek township, early Thursday morning. For ten years she had been ill. Death was due to general arterio-sclerosis.

Mrs. Miller was born on May 21, 1831. Her husband died in 1890. She is survived by one son, David D. Miller. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 9:30 o'clock at Ash Grove church, about two miles from her home. Rev. Paul Custer will officiate and interment will be at Ash Grove cemetery.

Dress Making

Prostrated Miss Allen. Vinol, our Cod Liver and Iron Tonic, restored her working strength.

Miss Allen's Statement

New York City. — "I am a dress-maker. I overworked, got all run-down, tired out, and had no appetite. After taking various tonics a friend told me about Vinol. I tried it and I gained so rapidly by its use that I feel like a new person and I am now keeping up my work with ease." — Miss Lucy R. Allen.

We guarantee Vinol, which contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones, and hypophosphites, to strengthen and build up weak, run-down, over-worked women.

NOTE:—Your leading druggist has for many years specially recommended Vinol because he knows there is nothing better than this famous Cod Liver and Iron Tonic to create strength and build one up. The formula of Vinol is on every label.

What Neurasthenia Is

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most frequent causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possible nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Box 1003, Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for the free booklet "Diseases of the Nervous System."

New Health Building Candy for Young and Old

Sensational Success in New York Now Obtainable in this City

From present signs it looks as though Partola, the new combination of laxative and antiseptic medicines in the form of mint candies, would enjoy the same popularity here as it does in the east. Local druggists predict a heavy demand and base their opinions on the remarkable advantages of this delicious confection.

When consulted, a representative said that Partola was a scientific improvement over the old-fashioned laxatives in that it not only does everything that the best laxatives can do, but it is an internal antiseptic as well. It tends to overcome the intestinal germs and poisons which originate in the digestive tract, thus making the organs antiseptic and giving invaluable protection against scores of diseases.

Despite the fact that Partola is such an efficient safeguard for the health of young and old, it has no taste or odor of medicine whatever. It is a pleasant candy lozenge—as delicious as bon-bons. As it comes in 25c, 50c and $1.00 boxes at all druggists it is no more expensive than ordinary laxatives and, of course, is much more valuable on account of its double duty (laxative and internal antiseptic) and its delicious taste.

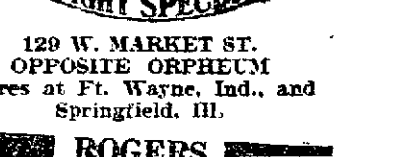

A POOR WAY TO ECONOMIZE

Neglecting to have your eyes examined at least every two years, is a poor way to economize.

Eyes will often improve materially under the proper treatment—and a slight change in the lenses may make a great improvement.

Rest assured we will not advise a change unless we are convinced it will improve your eyes.

"THE PALISER CASE"

BY EDGAR SALTUS

Copyright, 1919 by the Wheeler Syndicate Every Evening in the News.

The door, caught in a draught, slammed after him, though less violently than other doors that were slamming still. Would they never stop? Casey wondered. Would they clamor forever? Were there no rooms in life where she might enter and find the silence that is peace? Surely, some time, somewhere that silence might be hers.

She turned. Jones, looking extremely disagreeable, was walking in.

Cassy, closing her ears to those doors, exclaimed at him. "Here's a pretty how d'ye do. Mr. Dunwoodie says I am Mrs. Paliser."

"That afternoon, when you sent your love to my cat, I could have told you that. In fact I did."

From Jones' air and manner you would have said that he was willing and able to bite a ten-penny nail.

Cassy did not notice. "It appears, too, that I am entitled to some of the wretched money."

"It is unfortunate I did not know that also."

"I believe you did. But I shan't take it."

Jones drew a chair. Hatefully he looked her up and down.

"You are quite right. Sixty years ago there was but one millionaire in the country. The plutocrat had not appeared in the street, he had not even appeared in the dictionary. The breed was unknown. To-day there are herds of such creatures. I was reading the statistics recently and they depressed me beyond words. It is always depressing to know how much money other people have. You are quite right not to suffer poor devils to be depressed by you."

Mrs. Yallum! thought Cassy, who said as much: "I don't know what you are talking about."

"You are very intelligent. I am talking small change."

Cassy gave a shrug. "Mr. Dunwoodie said I would have enough to live on. I can do as well as that myself, thank you."

"No doubt," Jones snarled. "I am even sure you could do worse. It is extraordinary how much one can accomplish in refusing a dollar or two that might save another man's life. To hell with everybody! That is the noble attitude. I admire your spirit. A handful of bank-notes are crying at you: 'I'm yours, take me, give me to the wounded, to the starving! Not a bit of it. The Viscountess of Casa-Evora is too proud. That is superb.'"

Cassy turned on him. "See here, young man—"

"Don't you young man me," Jones irritably cut in. "In the rotunda, out there, Dunwoodie gave me a fortnight of your swank and I can tell you I relished it. You won't look at a penny of this money because, if you did, you would be benefiting by an act committed by your father, who, as sure as you live, was impelled by the powers invisible to rid the earth of Paliser and to rid it of him for no other reason than that this money might serve a world in flames. Refused by you it will only revert to an old rounder who never did a good deed in his life; whereas, instead, it could call down blessings on your father's grave. But no, perish the thought! All that is left is to let the money go to a young woman who regards herself as the arbiter of destiny. By God, you are prodigious."

"I think you are horrid."

"So are you. You are the hellish to millions and millions. No wonder you put on airs."

Occasionally, to exceptional beings, a hand issuing from nowhere offers a cup brimming with madness, filled to the top with follies and dreams.

At that cup Cassy stared. It was unreal. If she tried to touch it, it would vanish.

"It is impossible!" she cried. Jones looked about. "Where is my harp?"

Cassy did not know, she could not tell him. She had not even heard. A crater in the Wall Street sky had opened and from it, in an enchanted shower, fell sequins, opals, perfumes and stars.

But Jones must have found his harp. To that shower he was strutting an accompaniment.

"In to-day's paper there is a Red Cross appeal which says that what we give is gone. It is incredible, but educated people believe it. The ignorance of educated people is affecting. By reason of their education, which now and then includes mythology, they believe that happiness is the greatest of all the gifts that the gods can bestow. Being mortal, they try to obtain it. Being ignorant, they fail. Ignorance confounds pleasure with happiness. Pleasure comes from without, happiness from within. People may be very gay and profoundly miserable, really rich and terribly poor. In either case their condition is due to the fact that the happiness which they sought, they sought for themselves. Their error was old and stupid when it was not pathetic. In seeking happiness for themselves they fail to find it, but when they succeed in securing it for others, they find that on them also it has been bestowed. The money we give is not gone. It comes back to us. It returns in happiness and all the happiness that the richest, the poorest, the wisest, the stupidest can ever possess, is precisely that happiness which they have given away."

Where now where those doors? Cassy, the cascade of flowers and stars about her, looked at the harp. In listening to him, the doors had ceased to slam. About them was peace. But her eyes had filled. Jones was still at it.

"The greatest happiness is the cessation of pain. That pagan apostle of the Red Cross might put on it banners. Spiritually it is defective, but practically it is sound and some relief the Red Cross supplies. Give to it. You can put your money to no fairer use. It will hallow the grave your father lies in."

From beyond, from the adjacent curb, came the shouts of brokers. Jones, abandoning his harp, looked over at the girl. "What are you crying about?"

"I am not crying," spluttered Cassy, who was blubbling like a baby.

"I never cry. It is disgusting of you to say so."

"You are crying," Cassy, indignantly sniffing and sobbing, snapped at him. Fiercely she rubbed her eyes. "It is none of your business, anyhow. Pausing, she choked, recovered and blarney added: "And, anyway, if the money is mine, really mine, honestly mine, I will give it away, all of it—every penny."

"No, not all of it," Jones hastily threw in, for now the door was opening and Dunwoodie appeared. "Keep a pear for your thirst, put a little million aside."

He turned to the lawyer. "Mrs. Paliser accepts her responsibilities."

"Hum! Ha!" The great man sat down and looked at Cassy. He looked many things but he said very few. "My dear young lady, familiar as you are with Latin, with law and with literature, who am I to remind you that chickens should first be hatched? Your rights may be contested. The Paliser case, as it will be called, may—"

"The Paliser Case!" interjected Jones, who could see the headline from where he sat. "Shade of Blackstone! It will be famous! It will be filmed. The eminent jurist here will be screened and you, too, my lady."

Balefully Dunwoodie shot a glance at the linchpin and another at Cassy.

"It may last some time. I have no doubt of the result. None whatever. But in spite of your legal knowledge I suggest that you get associate counsel. Now, permit me to ask, would you care to retain me or would you prefer some one else?"

Cassy, who had dried her eyes, looked at him and it was remarkable how pretty she looked.

"Why, no, Mr. Dunwoodie, I would much rather have you, only—"

Unhappily she paused.

The eminent jurist took it up. "Only what?"

"Well, all I know about law is that it is very expensive and I have nothing except my grandfather's portrait."

Dunwoodie touched a button. "Ha! One moment."

A thin young man, with a pasty face and a slight stoop, opened the door.

"The old ruffian raised a stubby finger. 'Hardly a cheque for a thousand dollars, to the order of Bianca Paliser, is to be mailed to this lady to-night.'"

"But, Mr. Dunwoodie!" Cassy exclaimed.

"You must allow me to say your banker," he told her and turned again to the clerk. "Get Mr. Jerolomun. Say, with my compliments, I shall be obliged if he will look in here. And, Mr. Purdy, see to it that that cheque is attended to. Mrs. Paliser will give you her address."

"But, Mr. Dunwoodie," Cassy exclaimed again, as the sallo youth went out.

To distract her attention, instantly Jones improvised a limerick. "There was a young man named Purdy, who was not what you'd call very sturdy. To be more of a sport, he drank gin by the quart and danced on a hurdy-gurdy."

"You're insane," announced Cassy, who was a little demented herself.

Dunwoodie extracted his lower lip. "Jerolomun is the attorney for the other side. He will want to meet Mrs. Paliser but that honor will not be his to-day."

Cassy stood up. "I should hope not. He would be the last camel on the straw—I mean the last straw on the camel."

Dunwoodie, rising also, gave her his bow and to Jones a hand.

Then as the two made for the door, from over her shoulder she smiled back at him.

"My grandmother could not have been nicer."

"What do you mean by that?" Jones absently inquired.

But, in the rotunda now, Mr. Purdy was asking her address. If he had dared he would have followed her there. Fortune favoring, he would have followed her to the ends of the earth. It was what one of our allies calls a thunderbolt. Never before had he beheld such a face. Earnestly he prayed that he might behold it again. Allah is great. The prayer was granted.

In the canon below, Jones, as he piloted her to the subway, pulled at his gloves.

"If I had the ability, I would write an opera, call it 'Danae' and offer you the title-role."

Cassy, her thoughts on her grandmother, repeated it. "Danae?"

"Yes, the lady disconnected by marriage with Jupiter who tubbed her in gold—gold ink, I suppose. But as I am not a composer I shall put you between the sheets—of a novel I mean. Fiction has its consolations."

But now, leaving the canon, they entered a cavern which a tunnel fluted. There Cassy looked up at the linchpin. "How is Mr. Lennox? Do you see him?"

"I find it very difficult not to. Unattached people are sticky as flies. When Lennox was engaged, he was invisible. Now he is all over the place."

From the tunnel a train erupted. It came with the belch of a monstrous beetle, red-eyed and menacing, hastening terribly to some horrible task.

Jones, shoving the girl into his bowels, added: "I was happier when he was judged."

A corner beckoned. There, as the beetle resumed its flight, the novelist spread his wings.

"I would have wagered a red pin that you couldn't say Jack Robinson before he and that young woman were convoluting joyously. I even planned to be best man. Saw my tailor about it. Whether it were on that account or not the Lords of Karma only know, but he told Miss Austen to go to hell."

Cassy started. From before her everything was receding.

Jones, noting the movement, interpreted it naturally and therefore stupidly. He apologized.

"Forgive me. I picture you as Our Lady of the Immaculate Conversation. Forgive me, then. Besides, what Lennox did say, he said with less elegance. He said: 'I'm through.' Yes and he asked me to repeat it to her. I studiously omitted it, but as Proteus—Mr. Blount in private life—somewhere expressed it, 'Hell has no more fixed or absolute decree.'"

Because of the crashing beetle Jones had to shout it. He shouted it in Cassy's ear. It was a lovely ear and Jones was aware of it. But only professionally. Since that night in Naples when, by way of keepsake, he got a dagger in his back, he had entertained the belief that a novelist should have everything, even to sex, in his brain. Such theories are very unsafe. Jones' administrations were not therefore carnal. To Balzac, a pretty woman was a plot. Cassy was a plot to Jones, who continued to shout.

"If Lennox and Margaret Austen moved and had their being in a novel of mine, the wedding-bells would now be ringing at a cradle in the last chapter. Commercially it would be my duty to supply that happy and always unexpected touch. I even made a bet about it, which shows how fatigued gambling is. What's more, it shows that I must have an unsuspected talent for picture-plays. As it was in heaven, so it is now in the movies. It is there that marriages are made. But forgive me again. I am talking shop."

The renewed apology was needless. Though Jones shouted, Cassy did not hear. It was not the clattering beetle that interfered. To that also Cassy was deaf. She heard nothing. The echo of noisy millions had gone. The slamming doors were silent. But her face was pale as running water when, the beetle at last abandoned, she thanked Jones for seeing her all the way.

All the way to where? God, if she only knew! (To Be Continued.)

HEAR PROPERTY TAX MEASURE

Bill to Permit Municipal Ownership of Street Railways Heard
LIVELY DISCUSSION FOLLOWS

Toledo Officials and Traction Men Present Spirited Discussion

COLUMBUS. — Resubmission of the classification property tax to the voters at the presidential primaries next April loomed up in the legislature here Wednesday.

Senator Archer, Noble county, Wednesday asked minority floor leader Hoppie, of the house, to introduce a resolution, putting classification before the voters again in April.

"There seems slight possibility of getting an income tax law thru," Archer told Hoppie. "And there is strong opposition to breaking the Smith one per cent law."

"My district, which voted against classification last fall, I believe, will not support it," Archer said.

"I'm for classification as strong as ever," said Hoppie, "but I believe that we should first repeal the uniform tax law."

Hoppie believes the resolution to re-submit should come from the joint taxation committee.

Talk of adjournment or recess flattened out again Wednesday. Democratic leader Hoppie announced at noon that the proposed party caucus to force adjournment had been called off.

The Crabbe prohibition enforcement bill was a special order for Wednesday afternoon.

Republican floor leader Beetham said there was enough business in sight to keep the legislature busy this week and next.

The Brach bill, which would enable the city of Toledo as well as other Ohio cities to buy and operate their own street car lines, was the subject of a spirited hearing before the house committee on cities Wednesday.

The principal fight against the bill was made by Attorney Thomas Hogsett, representing the Street and Interurban Railways Association of the state. He contended that the cities do not realize the desperate financial condition of the traction companies and attempt to regulate fares and returns on value without acquainting themselves with the existing conditions. The bill, he said, would affect every municipality in Ohio and every traction interest in the state. Toledo was represented by Mayor Schreiber and other city officials.

THE LIMA DAILY NEWS
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE NEWS BUILDING, 121 E. HIGH ST. BY THE NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY.

Entered at the postoffice at Lima as second class mail matter.

Two Bad Bridges.

CITY OFFICIALS found yesterday that two of our bridges are in such condition that they are unsafe for travel. They will be repaired as best they can for the present and then steps will be taken to get new ones.

THE CITIZENS of Lima have shown by recent acts that they are opposed to bond issues. They defeated a number of issues both at the primary and general election which would have provided for a large amount of public improvement. It is useless to expect to get results and better conditions without spending money. The people should not be asked to vote money for every whim of some official, but when the safety of the public and the general advancement of the city are at stake it would be well for the taxpayers to seriously consider before casting their ballots against proposals.

MAYOR BURKHARDT'S cabinet, while being in office only a few days, has shown that it is for improvements which will benefit the city. A good start has been made and if the energy and push already demonstrated continue Lima will be given a chance to boom. But the administration cannot work wonders without the co-operation of the public. It takes money to do things.

Following The Styles.

MEN TAKE great pleasure in holding up woman as a slave to style. They probably have good reason for this, but while they are doing it most men forget they are none the less susceptible to changes in everyday affairs and fall in line almost as readily.

IF THERE was a law providing that the members of the masculine population wear their hair the way style now dictates they probably would fight the government and tear down the Statue of Liberty while committing a score of lesser crimes. When some leader takes a notion to change the accepted way of trimming the hair every mother's son is glad to have his barber suggest that he have his done to conform to the new style. The same is true in other things.

Something We Can't Do.

THIS NATION has not been able to fix the price of sugar. There is no control and the quotations change rapidly, always upward.

BUT THEY have control that controls in Australia. It is not due to any kindly feeling of the Australian sugar trust. The government simply fixed the price at 7 cents a pound and it has remained at that figure during the entire course of the war and still is that price.

MISS LIMA: "Presenting Leap Year to a pretty girl is like carrying coal to Newcastle, gasoline to the Standard Oil company or politics to Congress."

About Prosecutions.

THERE IS TALK now that persons who sold 2.75 per cent beer after war time prohibition went into effect will be prosecuted as violators of the act. This talk is the result of the recent ruling of the supreme court that beer with this percentage of alcohol is contraband under the war time prohibition act. When that court handed down the decision it was divided five against and four for the question. If the highest court in the land is divided almost equally upon such a question, how can a layman not versed in law be expected to know which is right, especially when he is acting under the ruling of a lesser court which gives him privilege to do what he is doing? Such prosecutions now hardly would be in order and would accomplish nothing.

Baseball.

NOT EVEN THE thick covering of snow now can down the spirit of the fans who are looking forth to the coming baseball season. Old Man Winter is not over the hill yet, but already plans are being made for the opening of the great game.

THE OLD WINTER league has been going in full blast. Baseball has had some of its greatest shake-ups during the last few weeks and the dopesters are predicting all sorts of calamities. Be that as it may, the small boy is wondering if his idol, Tyrus Cobb, who has failed but once in the last 10 years to lead his league in batting, will be on the top rung when the season of 1920 closes. The mature fan is calculating the chances of the Cincinnati Reds. There is almost as much sport in doping ball games before they happen as there is seeing them played.

Short Ones.

AN ASSISTANT is the one who does the work and takes the blame.

WE PROBABLY wouldn't be worrying about the high cost of living today if Atlas had insisted upon a six-hour day while he was holding up the world.

CONGRESS IS considering a plan to cut down the size of the Congressional Record. To the statesman whose speeches are printed but never heard, this will be the most unkindness cut of all.

ONE JUDGE says he will punish automobile offenders with long sentences. We would suggest that he compel them to sit thru a council meeting when they have some franchise ordinances to read.

SHIP NEWS.

S. S. Onitania arrived at quarantine this morning from Europe. The passenger list was as follows: 247 writers returning from Russia tell us the truth about the Soviet government. 112 occult mediums from India with new snake dances, crystal globes and tamborines. 76 eminent European financiers looking for American loans to save the world. 1,346 actors, actresses and actors, clowns, jugglers and ventriloquists come to elevate vaudeville and the legitimate stage. 367 original members of the czar's imperial court ballet. 19 famous English novelists, 27 poets and 68 playwrights. A couple of regular Americans who had to go abroad on business and are glad to get back.

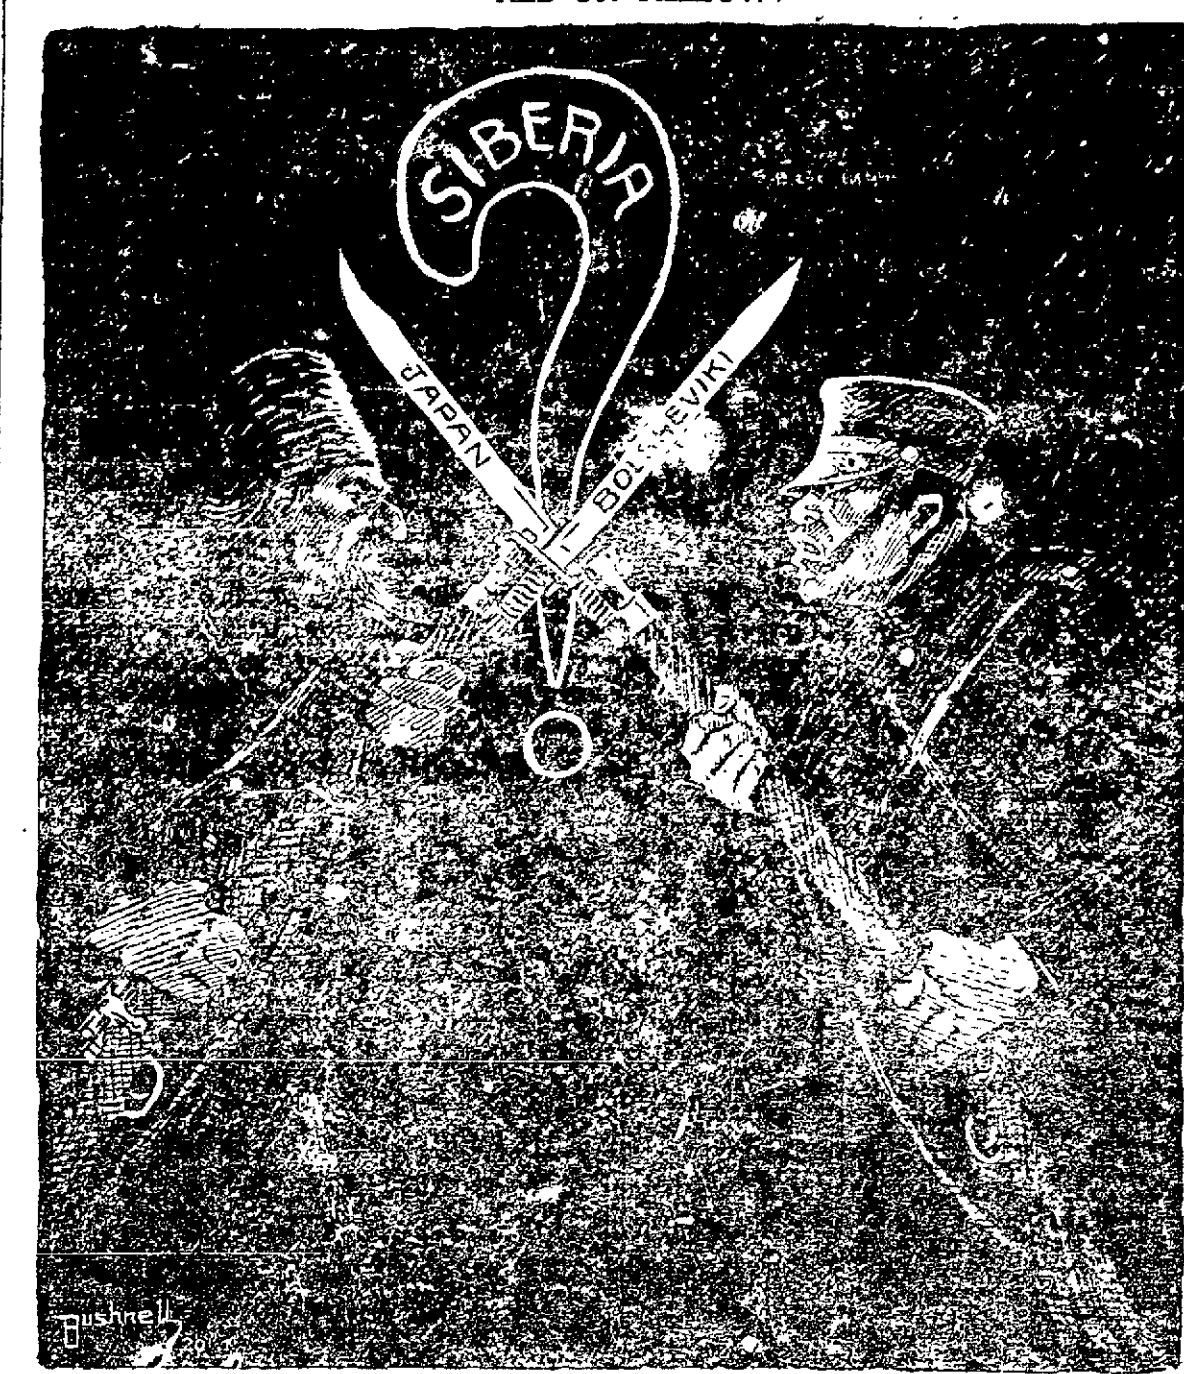

"To effectively prohibit" is the language of the Supreme Court decision. Apparently willing to let the country split its infinites, it not its bottles of beer.

We occupy a conspicuous place in belles-lettres just now for the reason that we have steadfastly refused to write up Maeterlinck's soul. That soul has been buffeted about, lambasted, interviewed, dissected, diagnosed and battered until it begins to resemble the old shindy can that the boys used to knock about the back lot.

It is doubtless the most famous soul in the world, we will not delve into it with our literary stylus. The soul of our butcher is something different. We love to probe that to the limit, for it means something to us, whereas the soul of Maurice cuts no congealed moisture in our young life.

So far as we are concerned, Maeterlinck's soul can go marching on.

HOW TO MANAGE
Told by J. O. Armour

By B. C. Forbes
Editor of Forbes' Magazine

OGDEN ARMOUR is at heart as democratic as was his father and with larger vision. "I have no social ambitions," he said. "My ambition is to run Armour & Co. successfully and to give a great many young men a chance to make their way in the world. My associates in the business are my closest friends, my chums."

"If it weren't for the fun there is in working with them and being with them, I wouldn't—I couldn't—stay in business. Without sentiment, the work would be too hard."

Years ago, Armour was offered $130,000,000 for his company, but unhesitatingly declined it.

"What could I do with $130,000,000," he remarked when I asked him about this incident, now revealed for the first time.

"Do you let sentiment enter into running your business?" I asked.

"Enter into running it?" he repeated. "Why, I run it on sentiment. If I didn't, it would not be successful—and it wouldn't be worth while running."

"No one man can run a big concern; he must depend upon others for the actual doing of almost everything."

"We are more particular about the hiring of office boys than about any other thing connected with Armour & Co., for the office boys of today will become our department managers tomorrow."

DIRECTOR WARNS OF "SENTIMENTAL APPEAL"

NEW YORK.—Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation Wednesday warned American business men against the "sentimental appeal" of European firms for unlimited credit in the United States.

Speaking before the American Manufacturers Export Association at a luncheon here, Meyer declared Americans should know how Europe "plans to meet her debts" before additional credit is extended.

"There are a lot of softness in credits," he warned.

Meyer's speech followed one by St. George Paish, in which the British financial expert had asked for "fast credits" for Europe in the United States.

MINE BOSS LAY HELPLESS WHEN WIFE GOT TANLAC

Was Six Feet Tall and Only Weighed 116 Pounds—Tried Eight Doctors

"I lay helpless when my wife ordered a little bottle of Tanlac from El Paso, Tex.," writes Harry E. Scott, of Dragoon, Ariz., in telling of his remarkable recovery.

Mr. Scott's voluntary statement has the true ring of sincerity and gratitude and is unquestionably one of the most remarkable ever given in connection with a proprietary medicine.

Mr. Scott's letter was addressed to C. F. Moss, a well-known druggist of Benson, Ariz., who has the Tanlac agency for that town, and was forwarded by Mr. Moss to the Tanlac offices at Atlanta. His letter follows:

Dragoon, Ariz.

Mr. C. F. Moss, Benson, Ariz.

Dear Sir:

As you expressed a desire to hear more about my case, I will try and tell you part of it. I was down and out nearly all the time for two years with rheumatism and stomach trouble, and went to eight doctors, two of whom were osteopaths. Three of them refused to take my case, saying it was incurable, and the others might as well have done so as they did me no good. I guess I have taken a barrel of medicines, internally and externally. I also went to Hot Springs, and out of all that was ever done, I never got over one week's relief at a time.

After going down to one hundred and sixteen pounds—which is very light for a six-footer—I kept getting worse until I couldn't move, even to feed myself. I had no desire to eat and couldn't sleep more than two hours at night. Some of the officials of the mine of which I am foreman would call to see me and then go out and say "Poor old Scott has fired his last man." My wife thought I would never get out of bed alive and she knew my condition better than anybody else.

At last, when I lay helpless, my wife ordered a bottle of Tanlac from the druggist at El Paso, Tex., which was the nearest place we could get it at that time. One evening about four days after I began taking Tanlac, I ate a fair meal and enjoyed it, the first in many months. By the time I had taken half of the first bottle I thought I had a good appetite, but when I finished my second bottle I could hardly eat enough to satisfy me. Well, I have finished my ninth bottle, have gained eighteen pounds and am back on the job every day.

Mrs. Scott and myself are willing to go before a notary and make affidavit as to the truth of every statement in this letter, which you are at liberty to publish and use for the benefit of others.

Yours very truly,
HARRY E. SCOTT.

(Signed) Accompanying the above was a letter from the Moss Pharmacy, addressed to the Tanlac offices, Atlanta, Ga., referring in the highest terms to Mr. Scott and his wife and saying they were ready at any time to go before a Notary Public and swear that Tanlac is the only medicine he had ever taken that had any effect on his rheumatism and stomach trouble.

Tanlac is sold in Lima at Hunter's Drug Store and the leading druggists in every town.

LEGAL NOTICE

Lillian R. Johnson, whose place of residence is unknown, late of Lima, Ohio, will take notice that, on the 7th day of January, 1920, in the Court of Common Pleas of Allen County, Ohio, where notice is now pending, being cause No. 19018, the undersigned, Jesse M. Pilgrims Progress in Society IV.

It would be fair to warn the beginner to refrain from any discussion of automobiles in $5,000-a-year society, such as is affected by Luella and myself. Now the fact is that Luella and I own and operate an automobile through how we do it we have wondered. The fact is that Luella and I both have accounts aside from our $5,000 a year, I from my writings, which often brings me in as high as $300 a year, and Luella from an old estate, somewhere in Virginia, which includes a cranberry swamp. Some of the other members of our set own automobiles but many do not. Each faction envies the other.

There is a great middle class in our set. These people own automobiles and yet they do not. If we may be permitted a Samuel Johnson paradox.

For instance, Mr. Jerome Bellin-court Smith usually opens the evening's festivities by stating they had to come to the party in the trolley because their car is being repaired. That car seems to be a friend for surgical operation. Nobody has ever seen the car, but it is one of the best advertised cars in our set. It is always mentioned early in the evening in a loud tone of voice. The fact is Mr. Henry Appleton Frisby tells me. Mr. Smith's car exists only in his mind, but I pass this information on for what it is worth. Mr. Frisby is by way of being catycometary, if I may use the expression.

The trouble with the Mr. and Mrs. Anson Stuyvesant Purdy's automobile is that the children are always using it. The Purdy children are motoring fiends, and they are always using the car when their parents want to come to our functions. No matter if it is midnight and raining cats and dogs, the "children have the car out." Luella has often said she should think the Purdy's would worry about having their children skulldogging around in the car at all times of night, but Luella is a trusting soul. I always say if it doesn't worry the Purdy's it shouldn't worry us. Mr. Wilton Cholmondeley Brown always says that he is expected to bring his car, but his business partner had borrowed it to go to Red Bank, N. J., to see a dying relative.

So beginners in our set are on thin ice when they mention an automobile. It has caused many to become so submerged that they have drifted off down stream under the ice and

HEALTH ADVICE
By William Brady, M. D.

Crawl, Dyspeptics, Crawl

Everything found within the abdominal cavity of civilized man—with the exception of an occasional towel or forceps—has been found displaced, and apparently more frequently so with each succeeding generation. This is consistent enough when we consider that the abdominal organs are or should be supported from the spine, hung from the spine like a mealbag in a hammock. This is an effective sling as long as the animal retains the horizontal, but it becomes inefficient just as soon as he gets up on his hind feet.

Once the animal has learned to get about on his hind feet it is difficult to bring him down again to the horizontal. In fact it takes sickness or an injury or utter fatigue to do it. Sometimes he can be coaxed to roll, if he is not too seriously afflicted with chronic indigestion, and even this brief revelation to the custom of his forebears often help to relieve his numerous ailments. An upright citizen suffers many things from his position.

I should like to wager a reasonable sum with somebody that one hundred cases of alleged dyspepsia indiscriminately and consecutively chosen will show a greater percentage of relief if the patients will get down and crawl about the floor five minutes three times a day, than a similar hundred cases will show from taking any dyspepsia remedy or digestive ferment internally.

Crawling on hands and knees or crawling dachshund fashion (with the elbows bent out and the chest close to the floor), or even doing an imitation of a stalled ox has given marked relief in numerous cases of circulatory trouble such as palpitation, attacks of tachycardia (excessively rapid heart action), swollen veins, and just "poor circulation."

The condition of swollen or dilated veins (varicose veins, varicocoele and hemorrhoids—piles) is so very rare in quadrupeds that some observers say it never occurs.

Our erect posture brought with it not only a soul but many things to try the soul.

Another climate record

A friend of mine, 22 years old, has a peculiar leakage of the heart. I don't know why he should have such a leakage. He wonders whether a change of climate would help him. Would you advise a change of climate? (H. J.)

ANSWER—Not so far as climatic disease is concerned. I cannot imagine how such a condition would be affected by climate. Climate helps prevent few diseases. Climate is like mineral water—the benefits derived from a journey to the mineral springs are attributable to change of diet, more regular habit, medical treatment, rest, exercise and other concomitants of the game, even unto the drinking of more water. People who chase climate strive to spend more time outdoors where they can get their money's worth of fresh air—the same fresh air they had back home just outside of the door.

The election of officers for the ensuing year took place at the meeting of the Young Ladies Aid of the Market Street Presbyterian church held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Pew, of west Elm street, Mrs. Fred Beam was chosen president; Mrs. J. B. Polling, vice president; Mrs. Homer Hughes, secretary, and Mrs. Clarence Miller, treasurer.

It was decided that the meetings hitherto held monthly will be held every two weeks. About thirty-two members attended the meeting on Wednesday. Following the business session the afternoon was spent socially and at 4 o'clock the hostess served dainty refreshments.

The place of the next meeting has not as yet been decided upon.

A Sullivan, of the Y. M. C. A. has been spending the week in Fostoria.

Miss Dorothy Kahle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Kahle, of west Market street, left Wednesday for Beaumont, Texas, where she will spend the remainder of the winter with her aunt, Mrs. Joe M. Loeb.

The Child Conservation League held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Weist, of west High street. Mrs. Stevens presented a splendid paper on the "Adolescent Period." Another well prepared paper on "Childhood Spots" was read by the hostess. It was decided that during the winter months the meeting should be held only once a month.

The next meeting of the organization will be held February 12th with Mrs. Ralph Runyan, of north Jameson avenue.

Mrs. Mary Frederick, of west McKibben street, has been entertaining as her guest her son, J. M. Broderick, of Muncie, Ind. Mr. Broderick returned to his home on Wednesday.

FASHIONABLE NANCY

No skirt should come below the knee. For those who really wish to ski. And Nance attains both skill and speed.

Attired in knicker suit of tweed; Wool gloves, wool stockings, and you'll note A scarlet scarf about the throat.

At the contest Mrs. A. H. Hay and Mrs. Scott were awarded prizes. At 4 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold a meeting on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Walter McNairy, of west High street.

Mrs. May Kibby Clark, of west Spring street, was hostess to the members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Market Street Presbyterian church at her home on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Geraldine Kah favored with several vocal numbers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Katherine Gramm. Miss Margaret Abrams gave a number of interesting readings.

Sewing for the district nurse occupied the time during the remainder of the afternoon. At 4 o'clock a luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. George Feist and Mrs. Frances Metzger.

The next meeting of the organization will be held with Mrs. A. T. Craig, of February 10th.

Mrs. P. M. Driver, of west Market street, welcomed the members of the Missionary society of the Bethany Lutheran church at her home on Wednesday afternoon. There were more than twenty-five members in attendance. The topic of "The Great Physician" was discussed. This was followed by a clever dialogue in which Mrs. George Marks, Mrs. George Mowery, Mrs. Webster Spayde, Mrs. Samuel Shridder, Mrs. Little and Mrs. Thapae took part. Miss Jennie Ridenour gave several interesting readings.

Mrs. P. L. Teal, of west High street, entertained the members of the Excelsior club at her home on Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent socially and in a unique contest. Mrs. William Carpenter was successful. Mrs. Huchfeld and daughter, Betty, and Miss Ellen Carpenter were the only guests. In the serving of a dainty luncheon the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Highfield.

In a fortnight Mrs. J. Guy Culp, of west Spring street, will be hostess to the members of the club.

The Missionary society of the First Baptist church will hold a meeting Friday afternoon with Mrs. C. E. Thomas, of west Spring street.

Miss Bernadine Wimmers, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Wimmer, of Van Wert, and O. J. Howell, of 608 east High street, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. A. A. Thomas, pastor of the Second Street M. E. church. Mrs. William Price, Mrs. Wimmer, mother of the bride and Clyde Weaver witnessed the ceremony.

The couple will make their home at 608 east High street.

Mrs. Daniel Lynch, formerly of Lima, now of Allegheny, N. Y., accompanied by her nephew, Edward Lynch, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. E. H. Swigert, 1001 west Wayne street. He left Thursday for Dayton, where she will visit with her friends before returning to her home.

Earl Hall, who has been visiting with his mother, Mrs. R. Hall, of Ontario street, will return to Muskogee, Okla., the latter part of the week.

Clean Up Poison Soaked Kidneys Advises Dr. Carey

Thousands Die Every Year Because They Allow Poisonous Deposits to Accumulate in Kidneys

Don't flush your kidneys with harsh makeshifts, says Dr. Carey, they are too frail and delicately constructed to treat them roughly. I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder ailments and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at moderate prices.

Ten members of the St. Agatha Guild of the Christ Episcopal church gathered at the home of Mrs. George R. Melly, of west Spring street, on Wednesday afternoon, to sew on comforters for the benefit of the new church being erected. In the past the organization has held its meetings in the Parish house, but since the building of the church, it has been necessary to hold cottage meetings. It was decided that the meetings during the month of January should be held at the Melly home. The next meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, January 21.

Mrs. Irvin C. Brentlinger, of 931 west Elm street, will entertain the members of the Willing Worker's Class of the Central Church of Christ on Friday evening.

Clifford Best, of west McKibben street, has returned to his home after spending a few days in Columbus, with relatives.

Mrs. Fred C. Hodde, of 424 east Market street, entertained with a most delightful birthday affair at her home on Tuesday evening in honor of her husband's 36th birthday anniversary. The evening was spent with music, dancing and cards, and at 10:30 o'clock the guests repaired to the dining room where a delicious luncheon was served.

Those enjoying the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Hollerman and son, Mr. and Mrs. Stockler, Mr. and Mrs. Ackert, Mr. and Mrs. William Hodde, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hodde and daughter, Mrs. Raymond Wicks and son, Mrs. Bert Halladay, Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mrs. Jennie Moore, Miss Ida Solomon, Miss Ethel Borkins, Miss Katherine Lease, Oscar Lease, Charles Mullano, Orville Horn, Henry Hawke, Rollie Hunt and Thomas Garland.

The members of the Primrose club and their husbands tendered a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kesner, of Greenlawn avenue, the occasion being Mrs. Kesner's birthday anniversary. Euchre afforded entertainment during the evening and at the conclusion of the game Mrs. Clarence Richardson and Mrs. Charles Kesner held high score and Mrs. Richards was presented the consolation prize. A delicious luncheon was served at a late hour. The club presented Mrs. Kesner with an attractive gift.

Guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Daymon, Mr. and Mrs. A. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Ruff, Mr. and Mrs. J. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. A. Unspach, Mr. and Mrs. Val Canary, Mr. and Mrs. R. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. L. Razon and son, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McFinney, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Richardson, Mrs. Donovan and daughter, Miss Irene, Misses Irene and Pauline Baumgardner.

Mrs. William Ershock, of Detroit, has returned to her home after spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Crider, of 824 Weadock avenue. Mrs. Ershock was formerly Miss Lena Crider.

LONDON BANKS WILL DISMISS WOMEN CLERKS

Women bank clerks in London have enlisted public interest and sympathy by their organized resistance to the dismissal notices lately sent to thousands of them. The protest against summary dismissal has proved so strong that many of the banks are yielding to it.

Some of them have tried to make amends by promising to retain all the women clerks now in their employ, and to allow them a bonus of two months' pay for those in service for one year. One bank has decided to allow women up to the age of thirty to compete for positions on the permanent staff and to pay them at the rate of men.

Miss Evans, secretary of the Association of Women Clerks and Secretaries, which conducted the campaign of resistance, says some of the banks which were firmest in their purpose to dispense with women have agreed to dismiss only those women who must make way for the return of ex-service men to their former posts, and these banks will temper their dismissals with bonuses for faithful and capable work.

For Coughs and Colds Use This Reliable Remedy

Why Pay an Extra Price when you can get Glando Pine, Same Quality, Same Quantity, and at the Same Old Price?

For 50 cents you can get 3 ounces of Glando Pine, mix it with enough good syrup or strained honey to make a pint and you will have the best cough medicine you ever used. It can't be beat for coughs, colds, hoarseness, throat irritations or croup. Glando Pine relieves the spasmodic coughing in whooping cough. Children love to take it. To prevent a cold from developing into pneumonia or bronchitis, hold a teaspoonful of Glando Pine well back in the mouth or throat and take a few deep breaths before swallowing it. You can feel the air cells opening up and you will breathe deep and easy.

Mrs. W. M. J. Fellers of Lima, Ohio, says: "I took cold which developed into a severe cough. It hung on for several months. I coughed terribly, especially at night. I lived in a flat and my neighbors, believing me to have tuberculosis, asked the owner of the flat to have me move out, which he did. I used different medicines, but found no relief until I used Glando Pine. The first dose seemed to help me. I began gaining in flesh, and by the time I had used two bottles my cough was gone. Over a year has passed and my cough has not returned. I believe Glando Pine saved my life."

Glando Pine is manufactured by the Glando-Aid Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Adv.

Love and Married Life
By IDA McGLONE GIBSON

"THERE is my charming relative?" asked Alice sarcastically, as she noticed that John was not in evidence.

"I don't know," he replied. "I don't know where he was going this morning? I should have thought he'd want to stay in the house."

"He wasn't home all last night," Alice said.

"I could not help remarking: 'Perhaps in a case of this kind you will be justified in calling up John's office.' 'Oh, yes,' she answered indifferently. 'I know his silly idea of not wanting to be called at the office. Mr. Gordon there?' she asked thru the telephone.

Then turning to me she said, after a moment's pause: 'They say he hasn't been down this morning.' She hung up the receiver for a second and then called another number which I knew was her husband's office, and after a moment was talking with him.

"Have you seen John this morning?" she asked. "I'm sure I don't know where he is. I just called up his office and they tell me he has not been down this morning."

"No, he isn't at the house. I'm telephoning from there." "Paddle His Own Canoe." "Katherine didn't know anything about it until I got here this morning. If she takes my advice, she'll simply let him paddle his own canoe until he comes to his senses. If he ever does!"

"What? You've heard from him this morning?" he remained consciousness? But he's delicious now?"

I gave a little shudder. I don't know why I hated to think of Karl Shepard as delicious. Certainly he could disclose no secrets that would hurt me.

Alice hung up the receiver. Evidently her husband had suggested that she call up a Turkish bath parlor, as she called a number which I recognized as one John often called to make an appointment.

After listening a moment she said: "Yes, he's there, but the attendant says he is asleep." Then into the phone: "Will you kindly tell him that his sister wants to speak to him?"

Turning to me again she said, with a little shudder, "I don't know why I hated to think of Karl Shepard as delicious. Certainly he could disclose no secrets that would hurt me."

WELL KNOWN ALLEN CO. FARMER TELLS FACTS

R. J. Coplin, R. R. 6, Lima, Gives His Emphatic Endorsement to Nuxite, the New Powerful Tonic Remedy

WAS NERVOUS ALL THE TIME. COULD NOT USE A PEN WITHOUT BEING SHAKY. FELT WEAK AND TIRED

Says "It Has Given Me More Good Results Than Any Other Medicine I Ever Tried"

There are few better known farmers in Allen county than R. J. Coplin, R. R. No. 6, Lima, Ohio, and when he gives Nuxite his emphatic public endorsement, his many friends will at once know that he must have received great benefit from its use. For Mr. Coplin is known far and near as a man who would not recommend anything unless he positively knew from personal experience that it was all right.

In relating the story of his experience with Nuxite, Mr. Coplin said: "I was troubled with nervous indigestion, my appetite was poor, and what little I did eat didn't agree with me. I felt tired and weak most of the time. My system seemed all run down, and it got so that I couldn't rest well at night any more. I would stay awake for hours, and in the morning I felt as tired as when I went to bed. I was so nervous and shaky that I could hardly hold a pen steady enough to write and I just had to drive myself to work. I didn't seem to have any energy left at all."

"I have taken one bottle of Nuxite and I feel greatly improved in every way. My appetite is good, and I am not near so nervous. That tired weak feeling has left me, and I sleep good at night. I feel stronger in every way, and I want to say that Nuxite has given me more results than any other medicine I ever used. I can gladly recommend Nuxite to my friends as being the best tonic I ever used."

It is indeed fortunate that Mr. Coplin used Nuxite and built up his run-down system before the bad winter weather set in, as it is extremely likely that in his weakened condition he would have contracted some trouble such as Grippe or Influenza later on.

Many Lima people are using Nuxite to tone up the liver, stomach, and nervous system, thereby regaining their health and appetite and ridding themselves of that tired weak feeling.

W. R. Cooper, the special Nuxite representative, is making his headquarters at Hunter's Public Square Drug Store.

Nuxite may also be obtained at Stewart's Drug Store, St. Marys, Ohio. S. E. Lewis, Columbus Grove.

HARMAN ELECTED
Heads Organization of Northwestern Ohio Optometrists

Eye-sight specialists and optometrists of Northwestern Ohio met Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. and elected William D. Harman president of the organization for the coming year. Vern W. Pugsley was elected secretary.

D. I. Frankie, president and C. V. Stephens, secretary, were the retiring officers.

Following election of officers, Dr. Lane of Rochester, N. Y., talked on the newest invention of the optical world, the discovery of the "new lens of eye-glasses."

Regarding the optical situation here, Vern Pugsley, newly elected secretary of the society stated that "Lima has without a doubt the most scientific and best specialists in the state."

That's Right, Say "I Want CELERY KING"

Take a cup to regulate your bowels to urify your blood and make you strong or you can withstand an attack of grippe. It happens to come along this winter. It's one great vegetable laxative and it won't cost you but a few cents to find it out. Children like it.

Influenza Dangers
Easily Avoided by Liberal Use of DASH BALM

The danger of a recurrence of the influenza epidemic of last year is by no means small.

Be on your guard. Influenza is only possible by entrance through nose and mouth of vicious influenza germs.

Keep a jar of Dash Balm handy. It not only wards off influenza, but also relieves severe catarrhal conditions of the nose and throat.

Insist on having Dash Balm and nothing else. Jars only, price 25 cents. Allan J. Dash Co., Mfg. Chemists, Olean, N. Y.

Hunters Drug Store can supply you.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulstead coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulstead coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Oppenheim Plot Works Out Solution Satisfactorily

"The Illustrious Prince" At Regent

ALIVE WITH THRILLS

Story With International Setting

(By ESTHER WAGNER)

One of the most absorbing and thrilling stories ever written "The Illustrious Prince," from the pen of the brilliant E. Phillips Oppenheim, is utilized by Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese star, as a screen drama, which opens an engagement at the Regent Sunday. The story is released by Robertson-Cole as a Superior Picture.

The story is that of a Japanese Prince who trailed to London the cosmopolitan roue and adventurer, De La Mar, who has brought disgrace to the Prince's father. Prince Maiyo arrives at the home of the Duke of Devonham, his dearest friend, in time to see the adventurer in his attempts to dishonor the wife of the Duke. When De La Mar is murdered, suspicion points to the Prince and two others individually, as the murderer. The solution of the mystery, and the confession of the real criminal, provides a series of intensely dramatic episodes of highly colored and sensational character.

The story moves at a fast tempo through, interest, action, and the sumptuous settings and striking light effects set a new standard for excellence and artistry. As the Prince, Hayakawa does some wonderful acting, which emphasizes the universally accepted opinion that he is, without a doubt, one of the most finished actors in the silent drama. He has mastered an individual technique all his own, and the production evidences a minute attention to detail that places it above criticism. An excellent cast supports the star in this picture, Mabel Ballin, Harry Lonsdale, Bertram Grassby, Beverly Travers, Edward Pell, Robert Lawlor and Toyo Fujita, all portraying their roles acceptably.

"BRINGING UP FATHER"

Comedy is the overwhelming ingredient which goes to make up the entertaining musical play of "Bringing Up Father in Society" which will be the offering at the Faurot tonight, commencing with the usual matinees. The piece, which is wedded to bright and snappy music, features surprises, novelties and other diverting humorous essentials, is based on the popular comics of George McManus. As in former seasons it is sponsored by Gus Hill who first saw the possibilities of presenting cartoon plays upon the stage. As a departure from the cut and dried plays of the time honored brand this play should bring drive away workaday cares, the blues and similar maladies without much ado. The cast is large and efficient and includes sixteen pretty and captivating choristers who know how to sing and dance cleverly and at the same time wear stunning costumes with becoming grace and modesty.

VAUDEVILLE

ORPHEUM

The new bill at the Orpheum starting today promises some top notch material composed of 5 acts of vaudeville blended together so as to make an interesting program. The Chas Edwards trio in music and song head the list then there is SAM Harris the songologist and black face comedian. ELIZABETH SHIRLEY and Co. comedy playlet. WILLIAMS and TAYLOR dancers, and HENNELLA magician. GLADYS LESLIE is underlined for Sunday as an added feature presenting her latest 5 reel photo play "GRAY TOWERS MYSTERY" shown in addition to the regular vaudeville bill.

THE SCREEN

REGENT

Tom Moore is showing for the last times at the Regent today. His latest Goldwyn picture has been well enjoyed by large crowds for the past two days. Tom is always a welcome visitor in Lima and is always assured a representative following of admirers.

H. B. Warner will be seen at the Regent for two days, Friday and Saturday. His new photoplay, "The Gray Wolf's Ghost," is a screen adaptation of a celebrated Bret Harte novel, "Maruja," and is replete with stirring scenes and thrilling climax. Mr. Warner is seen in a dual role which carried down thru three centuries forms the basis of theme in "The Gray Wolf's Ghost."

Tells How to Stop a Bad Cough

Surprising results from this famous old home-made syrup. Easily prepared and costs little.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

her celebrated husband. Mrs. Warner achieved a wide reputation as a Mrs. W. B. Warner, plays opposite beautiful and accomplished actors before her retirement from the stage a year ago. For ten years she appeared in notably Broadway successes. Mr. Warner has appeared on the local stage and his many admirers will be pleased to review his new photoplay.

RIALTO "Eastward Ho!" in which William Russell makes his second appearance as a William Fox star, is a photoplay which is announced, in which is presented the true spirit of American manhood at its best; it which "west meets east" when an Arizona cattle man goes to New York City and introduces western methods in outwitting the underhand tricks of city gangsters.

It is said that Russell at his best in this role; that there are plenty of laughs as well as serious work, and that the presentation of the gangsters and their haunts and ways is most accurate in its detail. The picture will be shown at the over today to entertain her admirers in "The Poison Pen" a World attraction. Last but not least is seen the two reel Sunbeam comedy, making a exceptionally fine show at popular prices.

DREAMLAND

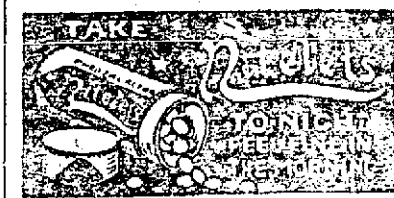

At Dreamland today and tomorrow Hazardous Helen Holmes will be seen in the thirteenth episode of "The Lost Fortune" and entitled "Set Adrift." In this is seen a startling auto smash up as well as other exciting and unlooked for incidents. As this serial draws to a close, it is attracting new patrons who are doubly interested in the manner in which it ends. The Al Kennings picture entitled "A Lucky Shot" is another story of the reformed outlaw's experiences during his wild life. The moral connection with these stories is what has made them so commendable to the censor board. Besides this a comedy is offered patrons.

STRAND

Warren Kerrigan makes his last bow at The Strand today in the six reel feature production "One Dollar Bid" and which is one of this
